decided to settle in the new area. He brought his family from Park City and settled in one of the nine houses along the ridge of the hill east of the mine building. Other homes were occupied by Archie Henderson, Will O'Brien, William Luke, Roy Pettie, Paul Hunt, William Fife, Ralph Stringham and George D. Blood. Later a house was built on the side of the road going down the ridge. Frank Hyde and later Harry Wallace, superintendent of the Park Utah Consolidated Mines, lived in this home. Another five families built homes in the canyon back of the mine building. These were Charles Welch, Al Ross, E. A. Hewitt, Robert Hyde and William Haueter. Mine buildings included an office, shops, boiler room, boarding house, commissary and two bunk houses. Later, two more bunk houses were built to accommodate the 500 to 600 men who came to the area in its boom days.

George A. Fisher, who did much of the land development in the area, supervised most of Keetley's growth. He built five modern homes, a combination store and gas station, and later an apartment house. He served as mayor of Keetley from the 1920's until his death in July, 1954. As mayor he directed the erection of an imposing school building.

Mr. Fisher, as mentioned earlier, also named the community in honor of Jack Keetley. This name created an interesting condition when postal service was inaugurated in the summer of 1923. Charles Roy Lenzi was named as postmaster and the service was very well received in the community. However, George Blood, acting superintendent of mines, discovered in the official community records that the town's name had been incorrectly recorded as "Keatley." A sign had even been placed over the post office with this incorrect spelling.

When the error was brought to the attention of the Postmaster General in Washington, he had to cancel the appointment of Charles Lenzi as postmaster, then recorded the name correctly and reappointed Mr. Lenzi as postmaster. This was done in November, 1923. Mr. Lenzi served continuously as Keetley's postmaster until 1952 when he retired and the post office was discontinued.

PUBLISHING

Underlying the growth of nearly all Heber business firms has been the support of the community newspaper, the Wasatch Wave. Someone once said that the formula for business success was "Early to bed, early to rise, work like the devil and advertise." The opportunity for merchants to advertise their goods or services came in the pages of the newspaper, and certainly helped in no small way to expand community business.

The newspaper was first published in 1889 in the north room of the Court House. William H. Buys, the owner, editor and manager of the paper, worked feverishly to bring the first issue into being. The hand-set, Cheltenham light-face type had arrived late from Salt Lake City and Mr. Buys burned a lot of midnight oil to get the type set and the issue ready for the March 23, 1889 publication date.

The biggest news in the four-page first issue, of course, was the birth of the paper, which Mr. Buys said was "but a tiny ripple on the great ocean of journalism." It may have seemed "tiny" then, but the newspaper has grown in size and in service until it is considered one of the state's best weekly newspapers today.

GEORGE A. FISHER, founder and developer of the prosperous town of Keetley in Wasatch County, is one of the outstanding men of enterprise in the state. Mr. Fisher is a native of Utah and in the thirty years since he came to manhood has found many opportunities and outlets for his energies.

He was born at Park City, July 4, 1883. His parents were David and Mary A. (McDonald) Fisher. David Fisher was for many years superintendent of the Ontario Mine in the Park City district and was one of the pioneer mining men of the county.

George A. Fisher grew up at Park City, where he obtained his early education in public schools. In 1902 he was graduated after a business course at the Latter Day Saints University, and during the following four years he had an interesting experience in the newspaper field, being connected with the Wasatch Wave at Heber. From 1906 to 1916 he was a member of the United States forest service, and had several promotions during this time.

Since 1916 Mr. Fisher has given his time and effort primarily to live stock ranching. He organized the Heber Horse and Cattle Growers Association and the Wallsberg Live Stock Association, and in the interest of these two organizations he made six trips to Washington, seeking better regulations from the Interior Department with regard to the grazing lands in the Strawberry Reservoir district. These two associations were later merged as the Strawberry Valley Grazing Company, Incorporated, of which Mr. Fisher was president and general manager. In 1917 Mr. Fisher bought the Cluff-McDonald Ranch, ten miles north of Heber. This has been one of the chief properties under his ownership and management since that time. He has added several thousand acres to his original holdings and now has one of the largest ranches in individual ownership in Wasatch County. Upon the opening of the mines in this section, in 1922, Mr. Fisher established a store and platted the town of Keetley, which is located near the center of the Fisher Ranch. It is now one of the promising towns of Wasatch County, and in 1930 had a population of 250. Mr. Fisher also has interests in merchandising, live stock companies and mines in the district. He has extended $50,000 of his personal means in the development of the town of Keetley, putting down sewers, bringing in power lines and telephones.

His activities as a business man have made him a public figure in Wasatch County and he has also received a number of honors in politics. In 1916 he was elected to the Utah Legislature and in 1922 was candidate for the State Senate. In 1920 he was elected a member of the Wasatch County School Board, serving eight years. During the World war he was chairman of the Wasatch County Chapter of the Red Cross and an active member of the County Council of Defense. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club of Heber City and the Latter Day Saints Church.

Mr. Fisher married, February 20, 1910, Miss Anna McMillan, of Heber City, daughter of William and Annie McMillan, who were early settlers in this district. They have four children: Ford, born in 1911; Wilson, born in 1916; Phyllis, born in 1918, and Marjorie, born in 1924.
